DETAILED ACTION

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 103

The following is a quotation of 35 U.S.C. 103(c) which forms the basis for all obviousness rejections set forth in this Office action:

(c) Subject matter developed by another person, which qualifies as prior art only under one or more of subsections (e), (f), and (g) of section 102 of this title, shall not preclude patentability under this section where the subject matter and the claimed invention were, at the time the invention was made, owned by the same person or subject to an obligation of assignment to the same person.

Claims 1 and 2 are rejected under 35 USC 103(c) as being unpatentable over U.S. Patent No. 5,728,121 to Bimbo et al. in view of U.S. Patent 6,626,922 to Hart et al. As illustrated in Fig. 4A, Bimbo teaches a compliant cushion 24 (col. 4, lines 26-40) having multiple surfaces. The inner surfaces are designed to attach the device to a jaw. The outer surfaces are encased within a metallic surface overlay 36 (col. 5, lines 1-20 and 59-67). The surface overlay 36 is inherently flexible and non-compliant since it may be made of metal (col. 5, lines 65-67).

Bimbo fails to disclose a plurality of protrusions or columns extending from the overlay generally perpendicular to the cushion surface. Nevertheless, Hart teaches a jaw-type occlusion device (Fig. 4) comprising a plurality of protrusions or columns 38. The columns enhance traction (col. 4, lines 37-et seq.). Therefore, it would have been obvious to one of ordinary skill in the art at the time the invention was made to add columns to the Bimbo device to enhance traction.

Conclusion

The prior art made of record and not relied upon is considered pertinent to applicants' disclosure: U.S. Patent No. 6,746,461 to Fry.
